TWO INTERESTING FORECASTS MADE BY POLITICIANS

State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, and Charles Forrest Curry, former Congressman from the third district, renewed acquaintence with the publishers of the Nugget Friday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson has extensive mining interests in this vicinity. He owns the major interest in the Tennesee mine, and owns outright the Kirkpatrick and Brush Creek mines, all gravel proerties. Work is now being prosecuted on all three of the properties.

A group of San Francisco capitalists has taken over the working of the Kirkpatrick on a royalty basis and it is proposed to spend there during the year, according to Mr. Johnson, approximately $30,000 in running to new tunnel into the channel gravel. Water trouble caused the abandonment of the old tunnel, but the Kirkpatrick for some months prior to closing on account of water, was producing $5,000 gross per month.

Aside from his mining interests Treasurer Johnson has large land holdings in the valley and is one of the largest producers of cereals in California.

Regarding political prospects in both State and nation both visitors had interesting view-points.

Regarding National affairs Mr. Curry declared that the next president of the United States would be James Wadsworth of New York, a Republican. He bases his prediction, being a Republican, upon what he regards as the certain failure of the Democratic administration.

"The fathers of our country, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson and the men who wrote the Constitution, regarded liberty as the greatest thing in the world," said Mr. Curry.

"Prosperity comes and goes in cycles. It is more or less transient. As compared with the liberty guaranteed us from birth to death, prosperity is nothing. Today we see our liberty taken from us. All over the the country industries are organizing and are drawing up certain codes, fixing certain wages. These codes are being submitted to a man who never succeeded in the army or in anything he ever undertook. He will tell these industrial leaders whether their codes are satisfactory to him or not. If they are not then he may step in draw up a code that suits him, and if the industrialists do not conform to it he may again step in and close their business.

"The reason this country is in its present condition is due to the policies followed by last Democratic administration under President Wilson. The man who most approved the Wilson policies is now President. Do you, or anybody who stops to think, believe that President Roosevelt is capable of extricating this country from the distresses resulting from the Wilson administration, by carrying out the very policies which plunged us into our trouble?"

Mr. Curry ultimated that there is one thing that the American people may learn, that is, prosperity may be purchased at too dear a price.

Regarding the gubernatorial outlook, State Treasurer Johnson intimated that he was considering entering the race a year hence himself. As for the budding candidacy of Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam, Mr. Johnson did not believe it would ever bloom.

CONDITION OF HICCOUGH VICTIM GRAVE, REPORT

James E. Martin, blacksmith at the Murchie Mine, who was stricken last week with a severe attack of hiccoughs brought on by a throat infection, and who went to San Francisco for treatment is now receiving care by three specialists in a San Francisco hospital. It is reported that the infection is now attacking his lungs and that his condition is critical.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Larsen, daughter, Geraldine, and son, Cameron, left Sunday on a month's vacation to Winchendon, Mass., and Nova Scotia, Canada, where they will visit Mrs. Larsen's former home. This is Mrs. Larsen's first trip to Nova Scotia in twenty five years.

FORMER FIRE CHIEF RECALLS BLACK POWDER BLAZE IN NEVADA CITY

C. E. Tegler, former fire chief of Nevada City, while visiting the Nugget office this morning recalled one of his stirring experiences in fire extinquishing.

A load of black powder was standing in the rear of the Alpha Stores a good many years ago with a big gasoline container loaded in the rear. The driver tossed a bottle of sulphuric acid to the top of the load. The bottle broke ran down into the straw and set it afire. The powder ignited but did not explode. The firemen came on the run. The horses were getting out of control but Chief Tegler, Dr. C. W. Chapman and Johnny Grissel cut five of the horses loose. The sixth horse, frantic by that time, was shot.

The firemen started to turn the water on the powder but miners standing by shouted a warning that under such conditions it woud explode. So the water was turned on adjacent buildings to keep them from burning. Finally the gasoline in the rear did explode and the top of the can shot into the stratosphere and came down, just where the fire truck had been standing a few seconds before. It was about the hottest fire in his experience, the former chief states.

Mr. and Mrh. Tegler reside in San Jose and are now spending a few days vacation in this city on pleasure and business. Mr. Tegler has property interests here.

FROM ROOSEVELT TO ROOSEVELT, 25 YEARS

When the 25th Annual Conference of Governors convenes in California July 23 to 29, the event will celebrate the silver anniversary of a project inaugurated by the late Theodore Roosevelt while he was president of the United States.

The coincidence of a radio greeting from the present chief executive, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to a group organized by his distinguished predecessor, was pointed out by Governor James Rolph, Jr., chief host to the conference. President Roosevelt will address the conference over a nation-wide hook-up at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 25, during a banquet at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

Governor Rolph recalled in this connection that the first Conference of Governors was called by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908. The president invited governors of all the states to meet with him at Washington for the purpose of discussing the conservation of natural resources, a subject which is again claiming public attention. The permanent organization was then formed. The Conference comprises governors and governors-elect of all states and territories. Former governors have all the rights and privileges of membership except the right to vote.

MEMORY OF FRED W. BRADLEY IS HONORED

At the last meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce honored the memory of the late Frederick W. Bradley, prominent mining engineer whose early life was spent in Nevada City. By a rising vote the following resoultions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The people of Nevada City and county and the local gold mining industry have suffered the loss of a generous and influential friend and benefactor and

WHEHEAS, A devoted son, husband, father and brother, has been removed all too soon from a tender family circle:

IT IS HEREBY RESOVLED, That the affectionate sympathy and sincere respects of the citizens of Nevada City are by this resolution of its Chamber of Commerce extended to the grief stricken family of this good friend who has passed on to the just reward of his full and constructive life.

THOUSANDS TO GREET HONORED GUESTS SUNDAY

The Truckee-Tahoe region will offer particularly interesting objectives for motorists over the coming weekend, and Nevada county will have a large representation there according to those in charge of arrangements. Arrival of a special train bearing governors of various states enroute to the annual Governors' Conference at Sacramento will provide the motive for two attractive public events, one at Truckee and the other at Lake Tahoe. Truckee will present a "wild west" celebration on Sunday (July 23) in honor of the visiting state executives. At the Lake Tahoe Governors' Grove a fine growth of trees fringing the lake front near Tahoe Tavern, will be dedicated.

Truckee has risen to the opportunity to extend a welcome to California to the delegation of governors with a program of old frontier days events. Preparations are being completed this week to present a lively, picturesque, and typically western greeting to the trainload of distinguished visitors. Indians, cowboys, scouts, covered wagons of the old emigrant trail, a pony express, stage coaches of the '49 era, and other vivid reminders of the pioneer days in California are being woven into a colorful program for the occasion. The celebration will commence about 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon, the scheduled hour for arrival of the special train.

BUILDING LOAN CO. IS PERMITTED TO RAISE THE RATE

AUBURN, July 17—The application of the Central California Building and Loan Association, Auburn, California, to increase the interest rate from four to five per cent on their building and loan certificates, was approved Friday at the hearing for this purpose before the Building and Loan Commissioner Friend W. Richardson. E. T. Robie, President of the Association states that permission was also obtained to apply this rate back to March 10, 1933, when California building and loan rates were reduced to four per cent by the legislature, on all certificates which remained in force through this period.

According to Mr. Robie, all present certificate holders will shortly receive a check for additional interest covering the time during which four per cent was paid. Most of this money will go to building and loan investors in Placer county and to others in Yolo county in the vicinity of Davis and Woodland, in a further contribution to prosperity in these sections.

The Central California Building and Loan Association, during all the period of financial stringency remained on a spot cash basis and practiced immediate payment of all withdrawals without notice. This policy was supported by the stability of the loans of the Association which are secured on conservative mortagages to home owners in Placer, Yolo and Solano counties.

In granting the application to pay the higher interest rate, Building and Loan Commissioner Richardson recognized the stability of the Association and commended the careful and economical policy of operation which maintained it.

The officers and directors include E. T. Robie, President, Wendell T. Robie, Vice-President, C. H. Robinson, Secretary, Ina S. Robie, of Auburn; W. B. Dearborn, Loomis and E. S. McBride, Davis. The officers together with Fred Hutton, Dixon; J. M. Holmes, of Woodland and S. K. Williams, Colfax, serve as the Advisory Committee of the Association.

The Nevada County Lumber Company is interested in this loan company and one building loan has already been placed in this city.

Miss M. Gibbons, owner of the Betty Jean Shops, Nevada City, Oroville and Marysville, accompanied by her niece Miss Margaret M. Tennent of this city, left Saturday for an extended tour through eastern states. While east the two will visit the World's Fair at Chicago. Their return trip will be made via Canadian route.

THIEF TAKES REFUGE IN POLICE PATROL VAN

CHICO, July 17—(UP)—Local police consider Ray Rogers, itinerant, a most accommodating chap.

Employes of a grocery store detected Ray in an asserted attempt to walk out with a cartoon of cigarettes he hadn't purchased. When turned over to the officers, Ray promptly made a dash for liberty.

Rounding a dark corner at full speed, Ray hopped into a box-like vehicle parked at the curb in an attempt to hid from his pursuers. The officers, close behind, merely locked the door of the patrol wagon and drove off with their prisoner.

STATE DEFICIT IS 125 MILLION

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—California's state deficit is approximately $125,000,000—a sum so vast the average man on the street cannot comprehend its significance.

If, however, every resident of the state shared equally the burden of balancing of the budget, he would be compelled to dig down into his jeans each month for 92 cents over a two year peariod. In the two years he would contribute $22.

Nevada county, computing the total on the basis of the 1930 census, would have to dig up a total of $233,112 as its share in the state budget balancing program.

SALES TAX HITS EVERYBODY

As a matter of fact, it is quite the above figure will just about hit this country. For the cornerstone of the legislature's program to remove the deficit is a sales tax. And a sales levy is one that affects every citizen in the state.

Morevoer computing the amount each county must raise to help meet the deficit on a population basis is a reasonably correct measuring stick—this because the present plans of the legislature call for spreading the deficit burden so thin and far (in other words to widen the tax base) that all citizens will contribute.

SCHOOL BURDENS ASSUMED

The $125,000,000, however, does not represent 100 per cent in the red, insofar as the state as a whole is concerned. By virtue of approving the Riley-Stewart tax revision plan, the electorate authorized the state to assume $76,000,000 of the county tax burden representing the counties' fixed school charges.

This sum when added to the actual budget deficit of approximately $49,000,000 brings the total up to $126,000,000.

No such deficit problem has ever faced a California legislature. Hundred and twenty-five millions would just about operate the state governments of the Pacific west for a year, excluding California.

YOUTH MAY LOSE ARM AS RESULT OF COLLISION

Harry Stephens, driver for the Keystone Market, was seriously injured last evening about 10 o'clock, when Joe Velentine with whom he was riding with on the way to Grass Valley, collided with a parked car at Hill's Flat.

Stephen's right arm was terribly lacerated but no bones broken. He was taken to the Jones Memorial hospital for treatment by Dr. Carl Jones. Little hope of saving the lacerated arm is entertained.

Dr. Howard Naffziger of San Francisco has been called to consult on the injury to young Stephens arm.

AUTOS CLASH ON TURN

While Lorrin Wasley was driving a Ford sedan home from Grass Valley last evening, about 8 p. m., his car was struck by another machine on the turn just below Town Talk service station.

Young Wasley received severe cuts on his head and shoulder while the driver of the other car escaped injury.

The Ford sedan was badly damaged.

Mrs. Joe Ceresto and two sons and Miss Marie Hoeger left for their homes in Oakland after a three weeks visit with Mrs. Cereto's mother, Mrs. Karl Kopp.

FRANK JORDAN'S RECORD UNIQUE IN POLITICS

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

FRANK C. JORDAN
Perennial Secretary of State

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—One of the most remarkable political careers in the west is that of genial, rotund Frank C. Jordan, dean of secretaries of state in the nation.

With only a three-year interval Jordan has held elective offices since 1896. And, since January 1, 1911, he has been California's secretary of state. In recent years, Jordan has been reelected virtually without opposition.

Jordan's has been far from a typical regulation republican wheel horse. He has played the party game as a general rule. But when party views ran counter to his views on prohibition, he was decidely independent.

PROUD OF WETNESS

The 73-year-old secretary of state is proud of his "wet" record. And throughout the arid years in California, he consistently fought the dries, even to the point of supporting a wet democratic gubernatorial candidate. He has been—and still is—personally and politically dripping wet.

Jordan is a native son. Born at Haycrafts Ferry, Shasta county, he enjoyed only a meager grammar school education. As a youth he worked in the fields of his father's farm near Oakland. The "political bug" bit him when he became secretary for State Senator Vrooman, Oakland. Later, a clerkship in the state law library, brought him close to political figures.

ONCE IN PRINTING BUSINESS

During this early period, he opened a stationery and printing business in Oakland. But his real interest was politics and in 1896, he was elected county clerk of Alameda county. That position he held until 1904 when he was elected clerk of the sureme court.

The Goldfield, Nevada gold rush lured him away from the supreme court clerkship. He had a fling at mining promotion and was doing well when the 1907 panic came along and left him flat broke in its wake. There ensued a few lean years.

In 1910 Jordan ran for Secretary of state at California's first direct primary election. He edged out F. O'Brien, Chico and Walter Wagner by a very close majority. Once in office, nothing could move him out. He defeated O'Brien the next election and since then has experienced no trouble in retaining his job.

Jordan is the father of four children: Robert, assistant secretary of state; Frank, of Oakland; Mrs. A. M. Laing, Newcastle and Mrs. H. G. Ramsay, Oakland.

SPANISH MINE NOW EMPLOYS 30 MEN

James Bradley now has a crew of 25 men employed at the Spanish mine near Washington. The mine is being reconditioned for large and steady production.

Work is progressing on the long tramway to be used to carry ore from the upper workings to the mill below.

Arthur W. Hoge, president of the Hoge Development Company, who recently went to Palo Alto on account of his health, has gone to the Stanford University hospital in San Francisco for medical care.

Hugh Glendenen, who has been very seriously ill is now making excellent progress toward recovery.

SEES DOUBLE HEADED SNAKE; STILL SOBER

PLACERVILLE, July 17 (UP)—Fortunately, this two-headed snake wasn't wearing straw hats and horn-rimmed spectacles.

So H. R. Clark decided the reptile which poked both its heads from the woodpile at his home near Shingle must be real. Closer examination revealed it to be genuine.

With this point settled, Clark concluded the double-headed snake should have a final resting place consistent with its peculiar makeup. It's permanent home is a bottle of alcohol.

EDUCATION HEAD MAPS PROBLEMS FACING SCHOOLS

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—Cooperation of citizens of Nevada county in an attempt to solve the statewide school problems was asked today by Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction.

Kersey said the legislature has been unable to solve the problems and that the department of education would seek the help of county, city and district superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers, parent-teacher associations, community organizations and public officials.

HARD NUTS TO CRACK

The following topics were listed by Kersey as "patently calling for improvement" and needing the widest public interest:

1. Teachers' tenure.
2. District reorganization or consolidation.
3. Simplification of educational administration by abolition of overlapping functions and authority.
4. Improvement of educational standards.
5. Improvement of methods of educational financing and budgeting.

"It is obvious that the public must participate more generally in school management if schools are to be operated in conformity with the people's desire," said Kersey.

"Some of the issues I have named have caused a sharp division of opinion. Tenure, for instance, has long been a bone of contention. There is a common ground upon which the rights of teacher to continuity of employment and the desires of employing school officials may meet. We propose to find it.

"Elementary schools of the state now are administered by more than 3,200 districts. Consolidation of these districts for reasons of efficiency as well as economy is greatly to be desired, but this must be done in a manner which will preserve the rights of the school child and of tax payer alike. No plan yet submitted to the legislature has entirely qualified in this respect.

"Similarly a better scheme of school financing can be devised. It should provide a greater equalization of public funds for the benefit of poorer districts than now exists, thereby bringing realization of the theory that every child is equal to equal educational opportunity.

"This cannot be done unless the public accepts a larger responsibility for the schools. Any modernizing of our educational administrative machinery is dependent upon binding the schools more closely to public interest."

UNWATERING SHAFT IN DELHI PROPERTY

Louis Monneman, who with his sister owns the Delhi mine north of Nevada City, has had a crew of eight men at the mine for the last six weeks.

He is pumping out the shaft and will open up known veins.

The Delhi is on the Alleghany road. A three mile electric line is to be built into the property as quickly as possible.

They will also put in a new tramway. This mine has a good past production record and is about a mile from the Alaska.

Mr. Nonneman's father with others purchased the old Champion mine from McMurray at the western edge of Nevada City operated it at one time. Later they purchased the Providence and Wyoming mines adjoining the Champion.

THE CHAMBER AT THE FRONT

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce has taken the initial step toward making September 4, (Labor Day) memorable as a great field day of athletic events and sports in Nevada City.

It is planned to make it a community welcoming event in which the boys, fourteen hundred in all, are royally entertained for a day in the manner of the Argonauts when they occasionally celebrated.

Nevada City the focal point for the eight big camps in the adjacent forests is admirably situated to play the hostess of Labor Day. It is expected to have a full schedule of sports, track events and old time diversions to give these boys, most of whom come from Tennesee, West Virginia and Kentucky, states that have all splendid traditions of Southern hospitality, a real taste of what California can do in the way of entertaining guests.

Word has already gone out to several camps of this coming event and it is reported that the young chaps in each camp are now putting every effort to enroll all the athletes in their ranks in a team which will strive for points in the great field day.

In this connection it would be remiss not to mention the fact that the churches of Nevada City and Grass Valley extended a warm welcome to the boys on their arrival in the C. C. C. camps, and together with public spirited organizations have done much to entertain them by providing them with books and games for their "off" hours.

President Cassidy of the Chamber will appoint a committee to take chage of the Labor Day program.

Another step taken by the Chamber to place Nevada City in the forefront of Mother Lode towns was the appointment of Mayor R. J. Bennetts, to be chairman of a committee which will prepare the necessary data for obtaining this city's share of Recovery Act fund which is to be loaned over a long term of years for the purposes of constructing projects.

Printed in another column is a resolution for the family of the late mining engineer, Fred W. Bradley, which the chamber passed at its last session.

We believe the Chamber, because of its many activities for the upbuilding of Nevada City and county, should receive the active support of every citizen. We can think of no more meritorious and timely event than the Labor Day sports festival which the Chamber is now planning. And, the potentialities of what may be accomplished for this community, in event it is found Nevada City is qualified to share in the Industrial Recovery Act fund, are enormous.

SALES TAX
By Ralph Taylor

Barring an unexpected upset or deadlock in the State Legislature, which reconvened Monday for its short session on urgency taxation measures, California will shortly become the seventh state in the nation to adopt a general sales tax as a cure for pressing revenue problems.

Whether other special tax bills will be enacted to supplement the sales tax is still problematical, but there seems to be little doubt that the lawmakers will rely upon a general sales levy as the main source of new income.

And the amount of the sales tax will hinge, very largely, on two factors as yet undetermined: Exemptions, if any, and final decision on the advisability of augmenting sales' revenues with additional income from other channels.

If, for example, foodstuffs and clothing are exempted from the sales tax, either the rate must be "upped" to bring in the necessary revenue, or some other tax measures must be pressed into srvice to swell the total flow of income.

From any viewpoint, whether agricultural, industrial, or from the standpoint of governmental budget-balancing, the problem is fraught with the most serious consequences, with a tremendous need for honest and intelligent action.

Just Complaining

"I'm better this morning, I thank you,"
Said old Mrs. Glum to her nurse;
"But I always feel bad when I'm better,
For I know then, I'll surely feel worse."

Seth Daley looked up in the morning
To skies that were smiling and clear;
"Potends more bad weather," he muttered,
"A big storm is brewing, I fear."

"Depression is over," said Billy,
"You're fooling yourself," answered Ned;
So Billy bought black ink that evening,
While Ned is still purchasing red.

Jones longs for a home in the country,
Smith wishes to live in the town;
But neither the town nor the country
Makes the slightest appeal to Sam Brown.

Nell shudders with cold in the winter,
Bell says its too hot in the spring,
Ralph revels in change and excitement,
Ron cusses the birds when they sing.

Poor dears, they're immoderately funny—
Complaining of that and of this;
While striving so hard to find shadows,
What a glory of sunshine they miss!

WEEKLY COMMENT

By
CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

Can we answer the following questions without getting red in the face?

What have I done to make NEVADA CITY a better place in which to live?

How much time have I devoted to civic affairs of this lovely mountain town?

How do I treat people who come here from other places?

Do I go out of my way to make them feel at home while they are here?

When asked for information Do I go out of my way to give them the information in a comprehensible manner, and, if unable to do so, do I see to it that they get it from some reliable source?

If I happen to be in the counsels of the leaders of the community do I give of my time and substance in a gracious and unselfish manner?

Am I man or woman enough to admit that my own opinion on any subject pertaining to the welfare of the city might not be as good as another's idea on the same subject, and, if proven to be second best do I graciously withdraw and then give wholehearted support to the idea which is adopted by the majority?

I have included myself in this questionaire and in all cases I keep these questions constantly before me so that I may not become delinquent in any of the attributes which may contribute to the upbuilding of the community.

You may challenge me any time anywhere on any of the above and if you can prove me delinquent I will at once remedy the fault.

And of such is good advertising made, it is not a secret nor incomprehensive just plain Horse Sense.

Try it out you will see that it pays big dividends.

POLICE JUDGE DOES WELL AS TRAFFIC COP

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—As a traffic officer, Police Judge Will J. Carraghar was a great success.

Driving on a dowtown business street, Carraghar saw Orville Blanton, 23 swing his car through a service station driveway to avoid a traffic light. Several pedestrians narrowly missed being hit.

The police judge gave chase, arrested Blanton, and Justice of the Peace Byron Gaddis, presiding over the case, imposed a find of $10 for reckless driving.

TRAFFIC OFFICER'S JOB VERY HAZARDOUS

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—In a reversal of usual highway safety campaigns, Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California highway patrol, has found it necessary to make the highways more safe for traffic officers.

Cato said that during the two and one- half years he has been head of the patrol, 12 officers have been killed and 107 others have been injured while on duty. Most of the serious accidents occurred to officers on motorcycles.

Miss Marjory Cook, who assists Mrs. Ben Preston in the Nevada City news stand, returned Saturday from a short vacation with her aunt and cousin in Richmond and Oakland.

GOLD HILL DIST. RIGHTS TO COST N. I. D. $250,000

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17—The Railroad Commission has rendered an opinion authorizing the Nevada Irrigation District to purchase and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company to sell the latter's distribution system serving the Gold Hill area in Placer county. The sale includes water rights, dams, reservoirs and canals, serving some 19,428 acres. Under the terms of the agreement the Pacific Gas and Electric Company allocates to the Gold Hill area the following quantities of water:

January 415 acre feet, February 295 acre feet, March 420 acre feet, April 1010 acre feet, May 1420 acre feet, June 1810 acre feet, July 2125 acre feet, August 2010 acre feet, September 1685 acre feet, October 870 acre feet, November 505 acre feet, and December 455 acre feet.

In addition ,the company agrees to sell to the District without, however, dedicating the same to the Gold Hill area, any excess water it may have.

The purchase price is $250,000. Payable in annual installments of $18,000.

The transfer develops from the fact that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company had a very limited water supply available for and dedicated to the Gold Hill area. The District on the other hand has a large volume of water available for use in the area, but no distribution system.

The land in the Gold Hill area lies outside of the boundaries of the irrigation district. One of the mooted issues had to do with the rates to be charged outside users as compared with landowners within the district. On this point the decision of the Railroad Commission has the following to say:

"The mater of what is an appropriate rate to be charged by the District to owners of land outside the District is difficult to determine. For the time being the District plans to charge such land owners the same rate as is being now charged by the company. No one objected to this rate. We believed that this should be the maximum rate charged the owners of outside land, unless hereafter owners of land in the District are required to pay a rate, including taxes, in excess of the aforesaid rate of $45.00 per miner's inch per season of six months. If such a contingency arises, the owners of land outside the District should be charged a rate which is not in excess of the over all rate paid by those in the District in the Gold Hill area."

DOBBIN REGAINS OLD POPULARITY ON FARMS

SACRAMENTO, July 17—(UP)—California once again is singing the old song about horses, horses, horses.

Dobbin, it would appear from a survey made by state officials, is back again in the good graces of the farmer, principally because it's cheaper to operate a hayburner than a gasoline burner.

The demand for horsepower on the hoof has increased to such an extent that there have been numerous importations of horses and mules, particularly in Southern California, according to the state division of animal industry.

For several years California's horse population has been decreasing. Last year there were 129,874 horses in the state, including 300 in Nevada coutny, as compared to 145,380 in 1931.

Young Folks Home From League Camp

A happy tanned group of young people returned Saturday to Nevada City in the San Juan school bus after a grand week at the Methodist League Institute at Monte Toyon, which is about 10 miles from Santa Cruz. The Institute was attended by 263 members, representatives of Leagues in Northern California, Nevada, and Oregon. This is only about half the number that went to Monte Toyon last year due to the fact that so many Leagues chose Tahoe this time. However, the Nevada City bunch said they enjoyed the smaller group as there was a chance to become acquanited with everyone and no crowding in camp.

Their days were full. At 6:45, morning watch was led by Mr. Loofbourow a noted preacer of Modesto, who was married in the Methodist church of Nevada City. From 8:30 to noon, classes were held. One had the choice of five subjects, namely: state church, internationalism, race prejudice, war and peace. Dr. Hadley, a professor at the Pacific School of Religion, handled the topic, "state." When he was asked the difference between socialism and communism, he answered that the former rule left the people in charge of their personal belongings, such as home and individual comforts, only taking from them the management of industries, whereas the later, communism, deprived man of all individual ownership. Dr. Hadley pointed out that there was no doubt that socialism —the solution for our unemployment problem—was going to be tried in the near future in the United States.

The afternoon was devoted to swimming; and the evening to sitting around a bonfire at which there was singing and stunts. On Sunday, Stanley E. Jones was heard, a great experience in itself ,so the Leaguers said.

Of the 263, the following 21 were from Nevada City: Ruth Tamblyn, Audrey Davis, Helen Arbogast, M. Pharris, Marian German, Gerturde Schreiber, Claris Holland, B. Granholm, Carl Murchie, Ralph Watters, B. Sweeney, Bob Tamblyn, Bob Schiffner, Cecil Schiffner, Dick Bennetts, Franklin Tuttle, Mrs. Granholm, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dare, and Rev. H. H. Buckner.

The Nevada City group came home with the Second Award Banner which makes the third banner that their walls now flaunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Berger and two sons spent the week end in iSerra City.

American Heroines

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

Hannah Dustin

A WHITE woman who beat the Indians at their own game: that was Hannah Dustin!

In 1697 the little outpost of Haverhill, Mass., was still a frontier settlement, exposed to the terrible dangers of privation and Indian attack. Here lived the hardy young farmer Thomas Dustin with Hannah, his wife, and their eight children, the youngest a babe in arms. One night in March, while Thomas and the seven older children were absent from home, a band of marauding red men broke into his home, captured his wife, their baby and Mrs. Mary Neff, a nurse. A tiny baby is a nuisance on a long, arduous march through the wilderness. So the baby was killed before its mother's eyes before they left the village. The two women the Indians marched a three days' journey through the forest to their camp, on what is now Dustin island, in the Merrimac river about six miles above Concord, N. H. There they were placed, together with little Samuel Leonardson, an English boy captured some weeks before at Worcester, in the care of an Indian family consisting of two men, three women and seven children.

During the long days that followed, while she dutifully performed the tasks assigned her by her captors, and endured their taunts and abuse with seeming patience, Hannah carefully laid her plans. The boy Samuel was her tool. Under her instruction Samuel feigned great admiration for one of the Indian men. Surely it took great strength and skill to wield that tomahawk with such deadly effect! How was it done? The savage, with due pride in his prowess, showed him.

Eagerly Hannah received the relayed instructions. Then she picked four of the Indians as her own victims, assigned four to Mrs. Neff and three to the boy. Thus prepared she bided her time. And one dark night, when the Indian family slept soundly, the three arose, helped themselves to the Indians' weapons, and quietly and systematically went about the business of killing ten of them.

LINE BAITED WITH FAT WALLET CATCHES THIEF

STOCKTON, July 17—(UP)—A. Vargara is in jail here because Walter Mullis went "fishing."

It wasn't the ordinary kind of fishing expedition, however. Recently Mullis lost considerable money when he was the victim of a pick pocket.

On this occasion he stuffed a wallet with paper, tied one end of a string to the wallet and the other to his colthing and headed for the local carnival grounds.

It wasn't long until he had a "nibble" and grabbed Vargara at the other end of the string.
